

The Theory of Limited and Open Access Orders: The Case of Germany

March 14 and 15, 2013

Freiburg im Breisgau

Joint workshop of the Wilhelm Röpke Institut (www.roepke-institut.de) and the Walter Eucken Institut (www.eucken.de), with support of the Friedrich Naumann Stiftung für die Freiheit (www.freiheit.org).

Place:

Walter Eucken Institut, Goethestr. 10, 79100 Freiburg im Breisgau

Public Lecture, March 13, 19.00:

Steven B. Webb, Becoming an Open Democratic Capitalist Society: An International Comparative Perspective on Germany's Sonderweg in the 20th Century

Liefmann House, Goethestr. 33-35, 79100 Freiburg im Breisgau.

March 14

14.00 Introductory lecture by Steven B. Webb (World Bank)

16.00 Alfred Reckendrees (Copenhagen Business School)
Was Weimar Germany the First Open Access Order that Failed?

17.30 Gerhard Wegner (Universität Erfurt)
Capitalism without political participation- the German case

19.00 Dinner

March 15

9.30 Jan-Otmar Hesse (Universität Bielefeld)
German Economic History of the 20th century: Changing Regimes of Economic Extraction

11.00 Joachim Zweynert (Universität Hamburg und Universität Witten-Herdecke)
The Concept of Ordnungspolitik through the Lens of the Concept of Limited and Open Access Orders

12.30 Lunch

14.00 Erik Grimmer-Solem (Wesleyan University)
The Mature Limited Access Order at the Doorstep: What Imperial Germany Can tell us about China Today

Discussants:

Richard Tilly (Universität Münster), Rudolf Richter (Universität des Saarlandes), Martin Uebele (Universität Münster), Stefan Kolev (Wilhelm Röpke Institut), Andrei Yakovlev (Higher School of Economics, Moskau)